

Wine List of Western Australia

Western Australia's nine wine regions have virtually everything – incredibly diverse climate zones and soils – that showcase a rich and wide abundance of grape varieties.

Chenin blanc, Verdelho and fortifieds of the Swan District, Riesling and Pinot Noir from Porongurup to Pemberton, exquisite Chardonnay & Cabernet from Dunsborough to Denmark and a remarkable array of Grenache and Syrah (Shiraz) across all climatic and terroir extremes of this southwest pocket of Australia.

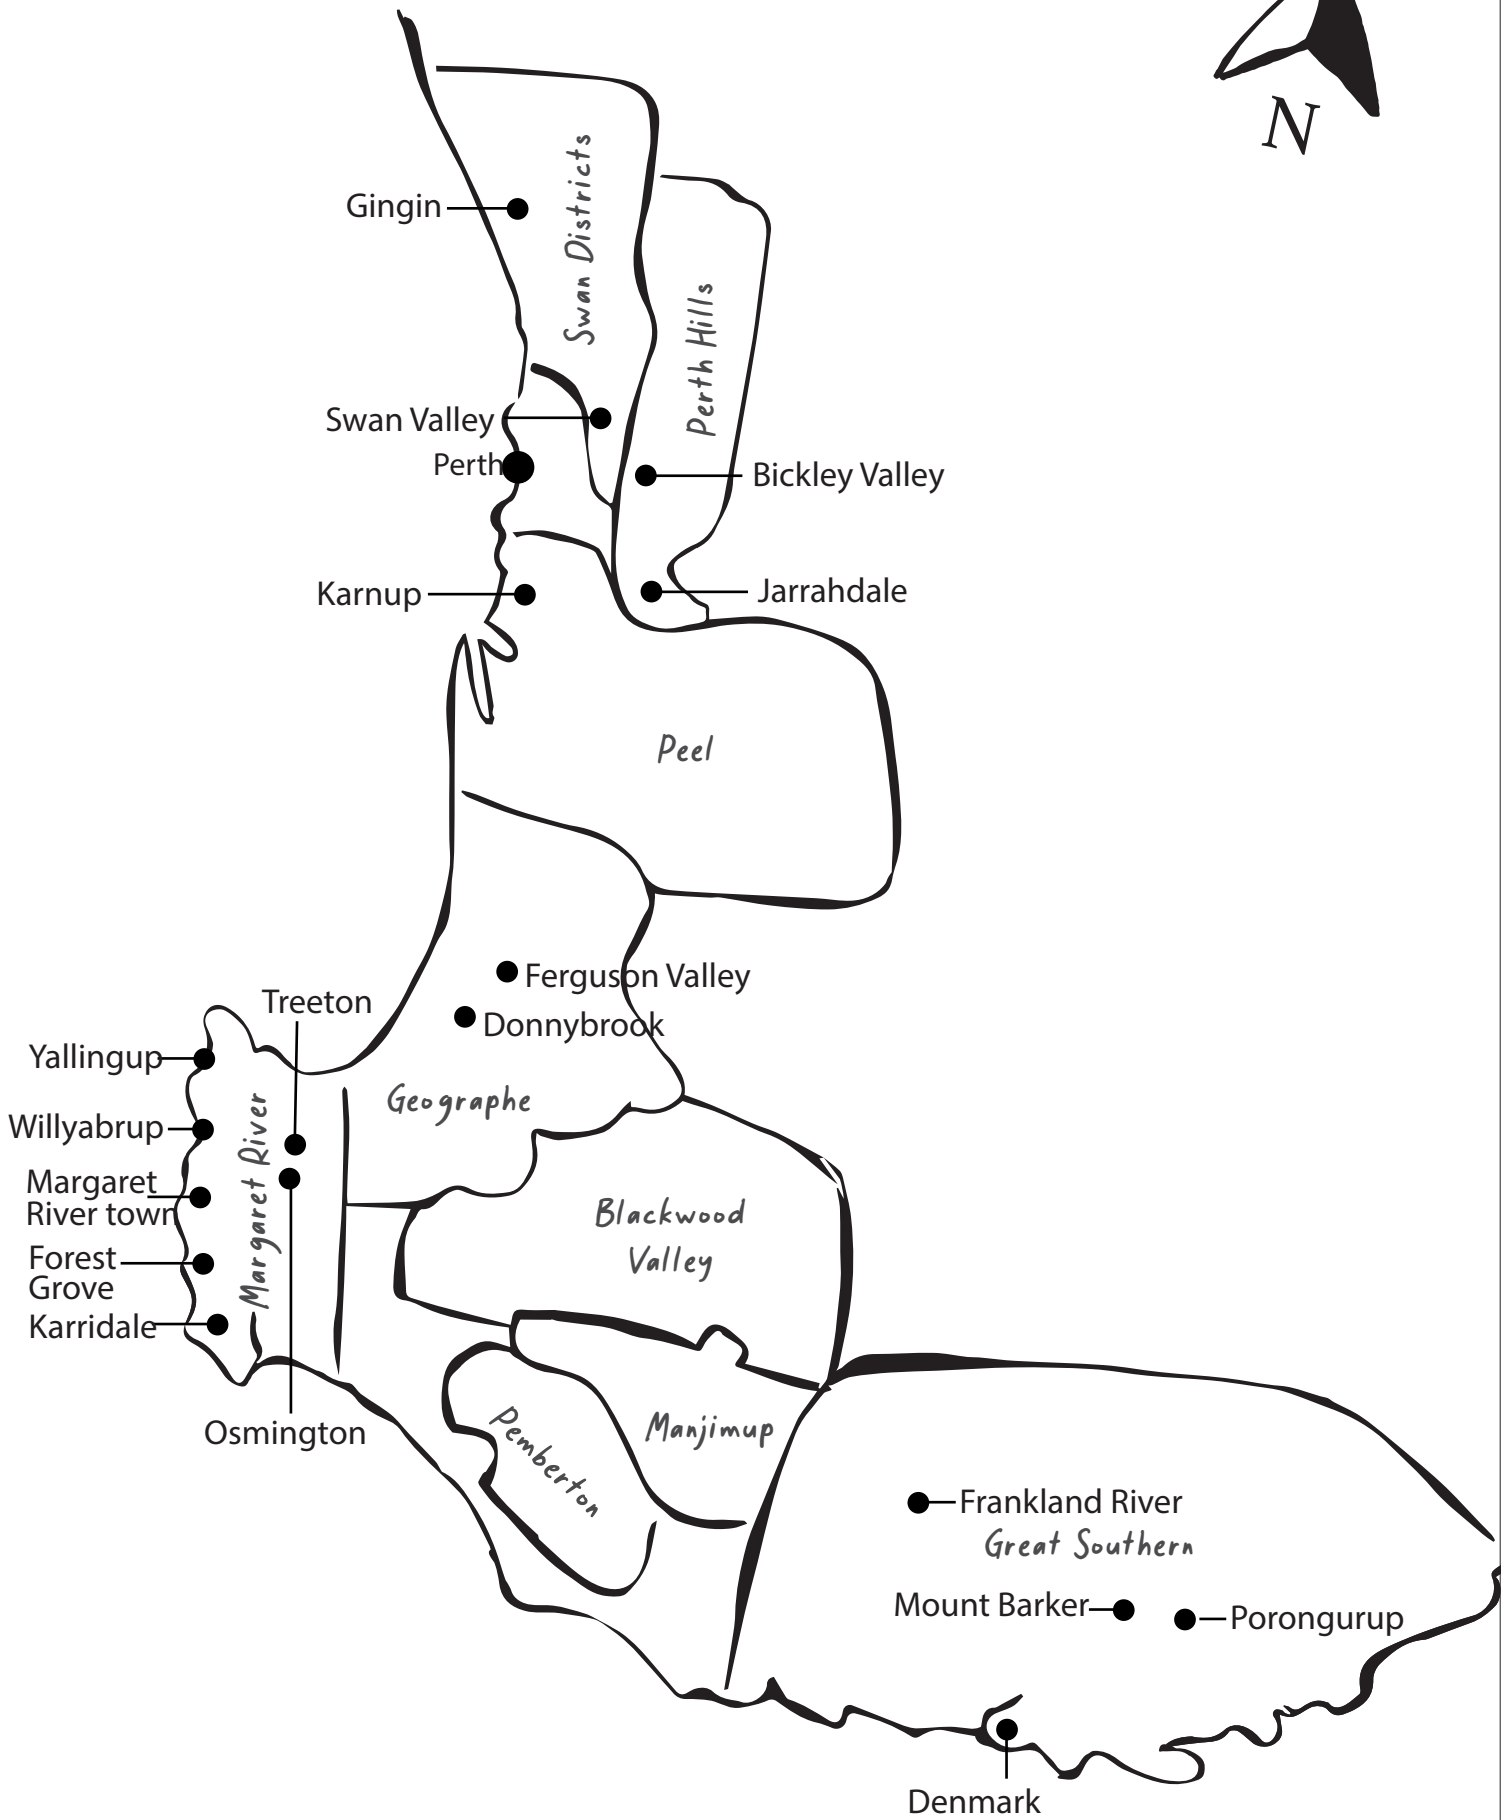

We'd like to take you on this journey, right here in Australia's second oldest wine region – The Swan Valley – with a few rare national and international surprises, if you ask nicely...

The Naked Fox's ethos is to represent and support other small, local independent businesses, bringing community and sustainability to every glass.

We respectfully acknowledge the past and present traditional owners of the land, the Noongar people of the Wadjuk tribe, the traditional custodians of this land, and respect their culture and identity which has been bound up with this land, sea and river for generations.

Please see today's separate listing for our rotating wines by the glass.

Where necessary Coravin is used to ensure your wine by the glass is served in impeccable condition. It is an innovative and engineered approach that has transformed the way the world looks at serving fine wine by the glass.

Pét-Nat, pétillant-naturel, méthode ancestrale, fast became the cool-kids' bubbles of choice. Pétillant naturel translated from French literally means 'naturally sparkling', and that's precisely what it is.

Pétillant-naturel/méthode ancestrale is the oldest known form of sparkling wine making, thought to originate in France, which involves bottling first before initial fermentation has finished. A little less fizz than Champagne, it's a natural, lighter, refreshingly sparkling wine designed to be polished off relatively young and chilled - perfect for one of those warm, sunny Swan Valley afternoons...

Rosé.

Why so pink?

Many [mass-produced] rosé wines adopt the Saignée method, whereby a portion of red wine is bled off shortly after it's been in contact with its skins and seeds. This, primarily, is to increase the concentration of the red wine remaining. The must (bled off portion) is bottled to produce the lighter coloured – with more gentle tannin than red wine – rosé wine you're drinking.

The rosé wines listed below, however, are made with the sole, primary purpose of producing a rosé – gentle skin contact before fermentation. This is the most common method to be found in the world's rosé capital Provence, France, resulting in that delicate pale pink, refined palate and lengthy finish.

Orange/skin contact.

Orange wine? It's essentially wine made in the style of a red wine – the addition of skin contact – but with white grapes. Usually preservative-free natural wines, they're yummy, textural and something just a little bit different.

Talijancich 2019	Verdelho	Swan Valley	75

Ver-del-OH! The sometimes forgotten fruit of the Swan Valley, originating from Portugal, in particular the island of Madeira, Verdelho has for centuries been used in some of the world's great fortified wines (see p.19). The above local wines represent skin contact, dry & sweeter style respectively.

Vino Volta So Well Then 2020	Fiano	Swan District	68
Juniper Small Batch 2019	Fiano	Willyabrup	58
Higher Plane 2019	Fiano	Margaret River	52

Quattro Fian[i]os... but which one to choose? Juniper is zesty with a floral nose, green apple and plenty of citrus zipping around the palate. Higher Plane has softer, stone fruit characters – peaches, nectarine and apricot – while Vino Volta turned up the dial, proposed a ménage à trois with Mark Messenger's two wines (it likes the skin contact), and shows a full monty of texture, citrus, florals and high voltage acidity. The meticulously regal Tonon – found only here and at Tonon Vineyard cellar door – with notes of pineapple, daisy, dill, chorizo... is an absolute treat for the senses and championed 'Wine of the Show' at the Perth Hills Wine Show 2022.

Riesling & the Germans.

Riesling, in Australia, got a bit of a bad rap in the 1980's and 90's with offerings of sweet, cheap goon bags and the likes of Blue Nun. Though empty goon bags provided tired backpackers with inflatable pillows, they did little to enhance the reputation of this fine, aromatic Rhine region grape variety.

Jump forward into the 21st Century and Australia – Clare & Eden Valley and the Great Southern region of Western Australia – is home to some of the world's great Riesling, competing with the finest exports from Alsace, France, to Mosel, Germany.

Arriving almost 200 years ago in the Swan Valley, Western Australia now produces some of the best Chenin examples to be found anywhere in the country – most are dry and fruity; some have a hint of oak, some with gentle skin contact providing a textured, savoury approach.

If you enjoy Chardonnay consider trying any one of these carefully selected Chenin blancs, listed by Swan Valley above in descending vintage and Margaret River region below north to south.

Grenache as a single varietal is, perhaps, yet to be fully embraced – soft and sweet to rich and tannic, it is extremely reflective of the terroir it's grown and has an oh-so-wonderful mouthfeel. Three regions, seven different, delightful examples.

Cabernet, Merlot & all things red Bordeaux.

In our humble – not to mention many formidably qualified wine critics’ – opinion, Margaret River Cabernet ranks as some of the best Cabernet on the planet. The only exception being that they’re often a quarter of the price of their equivalent Bordeaux, Napa, Tuscany... So kick back and indulge yourself in some of the world’s great Cabernets, grown just a few hours down the coast...

Such was the limited production (and is the deliciousness) of these three Cab Francs, we’re delighted to have them here for your drinking pleasure... expect savoury, mouthwatering tannins – pairing perfectly with the chorizo and soppressata.

After a tricky vintage in 2006, Margaret River and its subregions have had an extremely good run of excellent or outstanding vintages all of the way through to 2024. By all accounts, however, the 2018 vintage topped the bill – once-in-a-generation Marri tree blossoms kept grape-hungry birds at bay, while ideal spring, summer and autumn weather provided optimum ripening and harvest conditions for all grape varieties – a winemaker's, and wine-drinkers', dream!

If you like softer tannin, with presence still of primary fruit structure, look for reds in the 2009-2014 window. If you prefer more upfront, raw power peruse some of the the 2020 reds – a hot, racy vintage of utmost quality that oozes through the reds [and whites] of that vintage.
